Life on the Edge of Time- Eagle '99

Time. To many, time may be a friend, to some, an enemy. There are many different ways time may be defined. Webster's New World Dictionary defines time as "every moment there has ever been or ever will be." Time is not something you can control, touch, or even grasp, yet it is present in every aspect of our lives. The ticking of the clock overpowers us and drives our lives. With time we grow old and mature, yet never regain our youth. As the year 2000 approaches, the class of 1999, the last graduating class in one thousand years of history, prepares to make their mark in the new millenium, as does everyone, for we are all

Time Travel

"S houlda, coulda, woulda, but didn't..." We all have had dreams of what we would become if our talents and circumstances didn't limit us. The staff of MHS also had dreams of what they would become "someday" when they were younger. When asked the question, "What if..." they gave many surprising answers:

MRS. TAYLOR

If I could have become anything I wanted, I would've become... a beach volleyball player, and I would look good wearing the required bikini uniforms.

Marla Rockhold (Taylor) in 1985.

MRS. GRAHAM

I would have become a professional Christian singer, because I love to sing and I want to be able to tell as many people as I can what Christ has done for me.

Cindy McCarroll (Graham) in 1988.

MRS. WINCHESTER

In high school I had no idea what I wanted to do. I guess I always wanted to be a business major...

Vicki Lewis (Winchester) in 1975.

MR. MARTIN

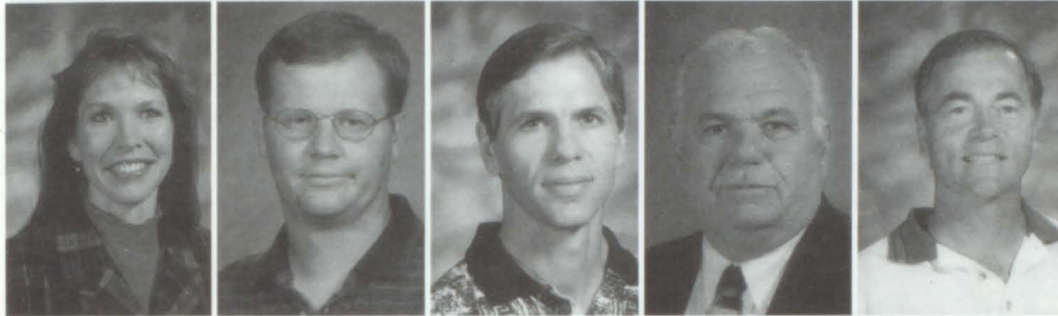

I would have played in the NFL or the NBA... or both. I would've loved to play for the Dolphins in Miami under Don Shula.

Mark Martin in 1975.

The year 1999 marks the end of a millenium, one thousand years of history. To the class of 1999, it also marks the end of their days at MHS and the beginning of a new life. Twelve of the nineteen seniors first came together in August of 1985, and along their thirteen year journey to graduation, the class has lost and gained members, but still remains strong. Many seniors feel that this year has been the best of their high school years by far, not only because of the class unity, but because of the added freedom as well. On May 16, the members of the class of 1999 will go their separate ways, making their first steps into a new life, much like their first steps as toddlers, and just then as now, they are unsure of their footing, but strong in their determination.

REMEMBER WHEN...

"In sixth grade we had a substitute and decided to take advantage of her by defiantly hiding our instruments, which we were supposed to take home, in closets, under sinks, and anywhere we could find hiding room. Anyway, we got in trouble the next day, but that incident truly defined our class. We are all smart kids, and when you put us all together, we can come up with crazy ideas that will always get us in trouble." - Mindy Pauly

"Our class usually sticks together through thick and thin, but when we haven't it has been some of the most memorable times." - Kylee Schuetz

Third Time's A Charm

As the juniors enter their third year at MHS, they have many memories behind them and even more ahead. By now, they are aware of everything they need to do to make this year successful.

The junior class also knows the difference between work and play...sometimes. The top picture, taken in 1989, is from the days spent on the playground.

MELISSA HELMSTETTER remembers that her favorite playground games were base tag and "detectives." When "detectives" was mentioned, the girls in the class wondered if their bread sack full of "clues" was ever found. JEFF FALK remembers when he broke his arm on the new bars in 5th grade. Today, the class still loves to play games, joke and have fun. Because they are such a small class, they are close friends as well. They had 18 people in 1989. Today they have 11 people in their class. Seven out of those 11 have attended Midway since kindergarten.

If you ask any of the teachers if the juniors really know the difference between work and play, you will probably get a variety of yes and no answers and a lot of laughs. Many of the teachers, as well as the juniors, hope that the third time's a charm when it comes to their junior year.

Second Time Around

Everyone gets a second chance, even in high school, and the sophomores are wasting no time in taking theirs. After a crazy freshman year, the sophomores are not slowing down. Always on the go, this class works hard at making their names known.

Not only are they drawing attention to themselves now, they were well known from the start. This picture taken in first grade shows the class and all of its charm. They began with 20 students and 10 years later the number has only grown by two. "AMANDA STEVENS says the class still acts the same as they did in the first grade, but "ERIC FUHRMAN claims that they have actually calmed down a bit.

As they look forward to the future, they take time to remember the past--things like their favorite game, which was four square, according to "RYANN OWENS. One fear for these kids was Mrs. Bevis, their 4th grade teacher, although they all agreed that once they got to know her, they realized that she was okay. The class works hard at making a reputation that the classes at Midway High School will remember even after they leave, and with only two years left to do it they have their work cut out for them.

Making Timeless Memories

In 1989, the Midway elementary school was privileged to introduce 15 new kindergarteners. Throughout the nine years the class has been together, only ten are veterans. Over time they have shared tears, fears, parties and other great memories. In the classroom, they have their own personal opinion on what their favorite lessons and activities were. "RACHAEL RICKLEFS, who has attended Midway since kindergarten, said her favorite classroom activities were math and auctions (sixth grade activity). "AMY JONES, who also is a veteran, said her favorite activity in elementary was recess. The majority of the class agreed on art and recess as their favorite indoor/outdoor activities in elementary. They also loved field trips. "TYSON RUSH, who has attended Midway since kindergarten, said he enjoyed the skiing field trip at Snow Creek in sixth grade.

The pictures show the Class in 1991 and then this year, 7 years later.

As time passes, the class of 2002 has developed tastes in different activities. Now their favorite activities include homecoming, (decorating the halls, games, and spirit week), sports and a variety of classes. This goes to show that attitudes and people change, simply because the passage of time; and since they have three more years of high school left, they will be making many more TIMELESS MEMORIES.

voted as the Midway computer freak.

Whining is something the students from Midway do best. After years of practice they have finally perfected this fine art. The most accomplished whiner, Douglas Roberts, was also it comes naturally."

Roberts has created a legacy when it comes to whining that students will continue to attempt to live up to at Midway for years.

Amber Stevens, sophomore, was chosen as the nicest person and the best listener at Midway by an overwhelming vote.

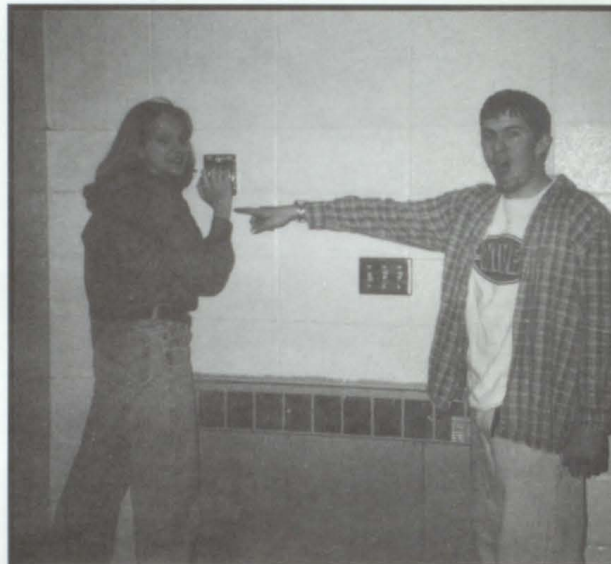

Stevens said, "I think that in order to be a good listener you really have to care about what everyone has to say. If they have a problem I just try to help them the best way I can."

A person's hair is just as important to their style anything else. People spend hours, not to mention lots of money on mousses, gels, and hair sprays to get it to look just right. Sophomore Shelly Becker was chosen as the person who has the best hair.

At Midway the most popular hair style for the girls is medium length with layers. Most of the guys keep their hair short and neatly combed.

At Midway there are some people who always seem to be getting away with something. On the other hand, there is also someone who always seems to be getting blamed for that same something. After the student body cast their votes, it was decided that senior Crystal Becker, also named for the best smile, was the most likely to get away with something while sophomore Brett Miner was voted as the high school scapegoat.

Funny people, every school should have some, but not every school is lucky enough to have junior Luke Helmstetter and sophomore Amanda Stevens, who tied for the funniest person.

Helmstetter said, "When I see other people laugh it puts me in a good mood."

As individuals they can crack anyone up, but once they get together they become unbelievable. They will do anything for a laugh, even go as far as to jump in the whirlpool.

Stevens said, "I don't try to make people laugh, I just try to lighten the mood."

Helmstetter also won in many other categories including Biggest flirt, Most likely to become famous, Best dressed, Most likely to never grow up, and Most likely to talk himself out of jail.

Stevens and sophomore Mark Scholz were voted as the cutest couple.

ALL- IN- GOOD TIME

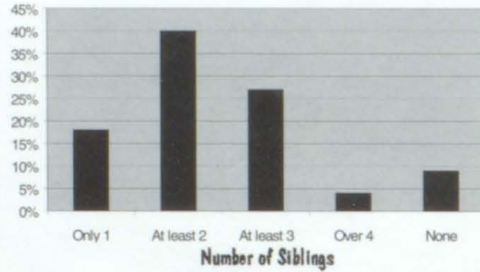

STUDENT LIFE

Sibling Rivalry...

While roaming the halls at MHS, one may notice the close resemblance of many students. This is most likely due to the several pairs of siblings throughout high school.

An outstanding number of students surprisingly share the same gene pool, whether they like it or not. While living closely together, tensions may rise, sometimes causing sibling rivalry.

Only Time Will Tell...

In the next millineum...

I see in the future that KU will finally pull off a winning season in football, Midway's enrollment will grow to 1000, Waiting to Shine will be the next "BIG" band and Clinton will find his way into priesthood.

- Luke Helmstetter

We will finally colonize space, with people living on other planets. Find a cure for cancer and AIDS, and third world nations will finally become industrialized and prosperous.

- Eve Wayman, senior

Other intelligent life will be found, and we will also be able to travel at the speed of light. We will most likely become gods in our own minds, wage war, and in the process, kill ourselves off.

- Tim Schmitt, senior

All of the computers will crash and everyone will go crazy.

- Amy Jones, freshman

The world will have a new sense of organization, and it will be a time in which we all take a step back and look at ourselves with a different meaning.

- Anne Simpson, senior

We will be able to step into a "teleporter", like they have on Star Trek, and push a button in order to travel.

MIDWAY FAVORITES

Eve Wayman, senior, is notorious for talking to herself.

Students at Midway LOVE to talk. They have a very wide vocabulary, but there are some things that they like to say better than others. For instance, if a student happens to pull into the parking lot in a new vehicle or is wearing an expensive brand name clothing, many students will not pass up the chance to say "MUST BE NICE!" In return, that student may not want to put up with the teasing and will say "BITE ME!" and walk off. They also may laugh off their peers jokes and simply say "WHATEVER." If they are in a bad mood they may tell their friends to "SHUT UP!" However, they should be careful where they choose to say this because if Mr. Ninemire hears that phrase, they may end up serving detention or be assigned 100 sentences. At this point, some may try to argue their way out of it, but others will simply say "UMMM..." and walk off before getting into more trouble.

Time to Serve

Student council plays an important role in the school. STUCO organizes dances such as Homecoming, Snowball, and their own spring STUCO dance. They also help organize activities during spirit week. To improve the looks of the building, during the last days of school, STUCO members and other students cleaned and removed old shrubs and mulch in front of the high school office and replaced it with new rock.

To help fundraising, STUCO had a bottle pop machine installed before Christmas time and sold the pop at $.75. Also they did the same tradition as every year and had a food drive and fruit basket giveaway. All together STUCO helps the student body in any way they possibly can.

Making the Deadline...

The Publications class of the 98-99 school year strove to make the several deadlines for everything from newspaper stories to yearbook pages. Getting quotes for stories, taking pictures for pages, and writing an endless supply of stories are all just a part of the Publications class requirements. The class, which consisted of seniors Crystal Becker, Amber Kuhnert, and juniors Jenny Boos, Melissa Helmstetter, and Becky Martin, took a trip to the Jostens plant in Topeka at the beginning of the second semester to learn about the techniques used to help put this yearbook together. Becker said, "This class demands responsibility and creativity. It's really been a lot of fun." Kuhnert felt that "it's a fun class that gives you a chance to develop your artistic and writing skills."

This year's team had an extra long season of testing their minds in competition and practice. After the regular season schedule, the varsity tried to advance to State competition by advancing out of Regionals, but were disappointed. Usually that would mean the season was over, but not for the seniors. Their wins at Topeka Channel 13 HI-Q continued the season until March. They were especially proud of their win over a much larger 5-A school. It was also a great experience for those who made their first appearances on television. To cap off the season, the group went to Kansas City for some "culture" and a dining experience at a Japanese restaurant.

In the first semester the band spent time marching at football games, playing for games and pep rallies, and working on pep band music. The second semester is focused on preparing for state music contest. The ratings are based on a scale of 1-3, 1 being the best. They received a 3. Also in the second semester, it gives those students who want the opportunity to compete in a small ensemble or solo competition to do so. Some of the who people competed were Megan Bingham, Jennifer Hamilton, Shiloh Davis, and Angela Boos. They ended the year off with a trip to World's of Fun to compete in their amphitheater with other bands.

On Aug. 17, twenty four determined girls took the court, fighting back the exhausting heat and sweat to successfully complete their first day of volleyball practice. Their season progressed from there to become one of the most successful in recent years. The varsity squad won a surprising 9 games, the most won in nearly 8 years of Midway's volleyball history. The seven seniors, five juniors, eight sophomores, and five freshmen that made up the team worked hard throughout the year to improve. Fan support and attendance at games also improved. With every loss and win, the team grew closer and performed with more enthusiasm and intensity, right up until their last heartbreaking game against Highland at Regionals. All of the returning volleyball players felt that the '98 season was by far the best in their high school years. One thing is for certain, this season created many memories for everyone involved, not only because it was the best season in 8 years, but because of the teamwork and leadership evident throughout the season.

QUOTE

"It was great beating Horton, the whole season was a lot of fun." - Shelly Becker

"I felt proud, not to mention nervous, playing on the varsity squad." - Sarah Burke

"Volleyball season was a lot of fun this year. The whole team cooperated and got along really well throughout the entire season. It made my senior year very memorable." - Crystal Becker

"I felt that the season was very successful. It was really exciting to have such a successful season for my senior year, and I wish everyone who returns next year the best of luck." - Amber Kuhnert

* District game

The 1998 football team had a tremendous year. Beginning the season with a stunning victory over North Andrew, the Eagles continued on their trek for greatness with enthusiasm running high. They barreled past the next five teams on their schedule with few hinderances. The first district game against Bern was a rainy, miserable affair with the Eagles once again coming out on top. The final home game was also the district championship against B&B, and fans rolled in by the dozens. The game was huge, and neither team wanted a loss to mar their previously unblemished record. Midway's excellent play and outstanding effort allowed them to roll over the Falcons in a battle that lasted to the end. On Tuesday, Nov. 3, the Eagles went down fighting the bigger Bulldogs from Linn through rain, injuries and illnesses. The fact that the season came to an unexpected, sudden stop, does not overshadow the exceptional play in the regular season. Their hard work and dedication will not be forgotten.

QUOTE

Early in the morning on August 17, 10 brave souls started running- and they didn't stop until they reached their goal of the State cross country meet, a month and a half later.

Due to a lack of runners, the Midway and Highland teams combined during meets to become one team. Improvement was obvious as the season progressed, in both the girls and boys. The girls' team won both the McLouth and Troy meets, and performed well at the other meets. The boys didn't have enough to run as a team, but they too ran well, as individuals.

First Time For Everything

Regionals were run at Troy, without the aid of Highland. The girls ran well enough to place second. On to state! Many memories were made in Wamego, both the night before, and the day of the race. Through cold rain, and a slippery, muddy trail, the girls ran. With lots of support from friends and family, they managed to gut it out, and finished 9th.

It was a year of learning, laughing, and growing as a team, and as people.

"It was awesome to get to State, but it took a lot of running...I hope we get there next year!" - Angela Boos

"We had some very, uh... interesting bus rides." - Steve Juhl

"One good memory that I have of this year was the day we practiced with frisbees on a muddy road...I still have stains on my shirt!" - Amber Stevens

"It was a really neat experience to participate at State." - Beth Lednicki "Going to State was a goal that we had from the beginning of the season, and it took an entire season of hard work to make it happen. It was an awesome experience and one that I will never forget. I want to thank all of my teammates for making my senior year the best."

The day had finally dawned, (Well, at 5:45 a.m., it really hadn't dawned yet.) Nov. 16, the first day of practice. 17 girls showed up to make a commitment to be a part of the team, a piece of the puzzle.

The girls started the season off hot, taking second place in the pre-season Bern Tournament. From there, it was a bit of a rough climb to Christmas and by the break, their record had slipped to 3-4. Coming back from the long vacation, the Eagles kicked it into full gear, and went on a seven game winning streak, which included taking the Elwood Tournament by storm, and successfully defending their claim as champions. The next few games went by in a blur, and before they knew it, the Eagle found themselves ready to play the first Regional game at home against Wetmore.

Excited and ready, the Eagle squad rolled over the Cardinals, and won with a 20 point margin. On to the second round! Though they knew it would be difficult, the girls were confident that they could win against Centralia, at Centralia. The Panther's shooting seemed too much for the Eagles, and it was there the season came crashing to an end. It was a special year, and future teams will no doubt continue to build on the foundation that has been laid by this team of true Midway Eagles.

The 1998-1999 boys' basketball season was one that will live on in the minds of students, parents, and community members for the rest of their lives. It was the year that the team made it to the State Tournament for the first time in Eagle Boys' Basketball history.

The team began the season taking the Bern Tournament by storm, leaving the other teams behind to pick up the pieces of the destruction. The remainder of games before Christmas were all exciting and well played. They began the New Year with a record of 6-1 and remained undefeated throughout the rest of regular season play.

Hang Time

Going into Regionals, the boys had a bye for the first round. They went on to play the Wetmore Cardinals and the Centralia Panthers to become Regional Champions. Spirits were high as the Eagles advanced to their first night of Sub-State play at Marysville, where they defeated Centre High School. On the second night, the Eagles took on the Linn Bulldogs in a gym full of excited fans and won.

On Wednesday, March 10, the team paraded through an excited crowd of teachers and students in the gym and halls to see them off on their trip to Hays.

With their fans cheering them on, the Eagles faced Little River at the State Tournament at Fort Hays State University. The Eagles had a tough time keeping up with the Redskins and ended up losing the game 51-63.

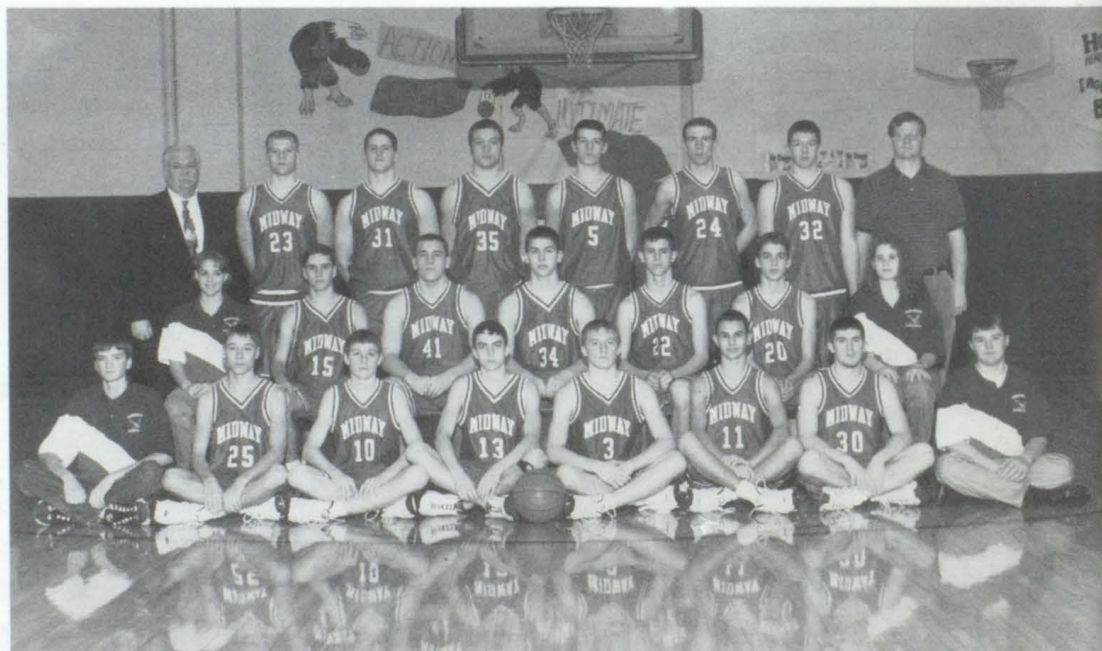

The next week the school, team, coaches, cheerleaders and fans were awarded with a Sportsmanship certificate for their outstanding attitude and display of sportsmanship at the State tournament.

The Eagle track team of 1999 expected great things of the this year, and they were proved right in their expectations. The boys' team was composed of seventeen athletes who managed to win every meet that they attended, with the exception of State. The girls' team did quite well, too.

Rise Against Time

The Regional in Seneca was an amazing success. School records seemed to be broken right and left, as 10 different events qualified for the state meet. The teams left for Wichita on May 27, and ran preliminaries on May 28.

Finals were on Sat. May 29. It was a successful trip. Tyson Rush placed 3rd in the High Jump, Jarred Fuhrman placed 2nd in the 110m High Hurdles. Several other Midway participants made it into the top six, including various relays. All in all, it was an enjoyable season filled with sweat and smiles.

Melissa Helmstetter- "The times I remember the most is when we went to camp at Emporia State and the great sports teams that we got to cheer for."

Jenny Boos- "The most fun time I had this year was putting on the Mini-Clinic."

ACADEMICS

NEVER ENOUGH TIME

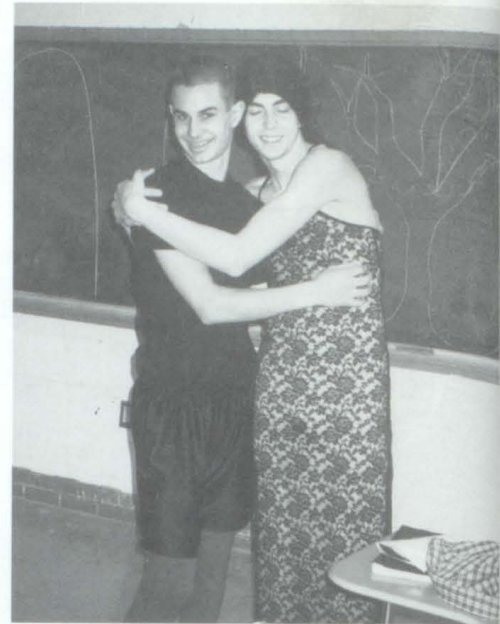

Throughout the 1998-99 school year, students studied hard to make the grades. Challenging classes demanded the best from students. Teaching methods that utilized unordinary practices seemed to be the favorite among students. In the freshmen English class, students read Shakespeare's Romeo and Juliet, and split into groups to perform the famous balcony scene. The Anatomy class dissected frogs, sharks, and traveled to Lawrence to see the cadavers at the University of Kansas. Senior Doug Roberts thought that the experience was very interesting and disgusting. "To actually see a real person dissected on a table was quite an educational experience."

In the fifth hour class, Careers, students had the opportunity to travel to places of employment to job shadow interesting occupations. Junior Heather Frump felt that the experience gave her a better idea of what respiratory therapists do, where they work, and who they work with. "It helped me decide what I want to go to college for. It showed me more of what a respiratory therapist does."

Freshmen Matt Pauly and Tyler Martin steal a loving moment while acting out Romeo and Juliet.

IN-HOUSE TRAINING

During first hour, the students of the In-House Training class participate in on-the-job training. The teacher, Mrs. Winchester, is the employer while the students are the employees. Approximately fifty percent of the job is actual work while twenty percent is non-skilled work. The class has responsibilities such as making programs for all school events, recording stats, and making signs for those students involved in extracurricular activities. This year, the students provided cookbooks and calenders throughout the school, as well as provided the seniors with the graduation slide show. The class was also hired to complete several projects throughout the community.

CLOTHING DEC./CONST.

The Clothing Decisions and Construction class begins the first semester by investigating the psychological, social, and aesthetic meaning of clothes. They learn how to choose, buy, and take care of clothing. Textiles from fiber to fabrics are also discussed. Throughout the second semester, Clothing Construction begins. During this time, students practice operating a basic sewing machine, a serger, and practice construction techniques by completing clothing projects. Choosing sewing supplies and being able to read and comprehend directions is also an important part of class.

Speech classes are during both second and fourth hours, with both classes being taught by Ms. Cyndi Geisen. The students in the fourth hour class were seniors Crystal Becker, Justin Dunning, Josh Falk, Jarred Fuhrman, Mindy Pauly, and Eve Wayman. In the first semester, the class developed skills in speech preparation and presentation. During the second semester the class was introduced to different forensic areas including the reading of poetry, and dramatic interpretation. They also did such things as improvisational duet acting and held debates.

HOMEROOM / LUNCH

Homeroom, for students means a variety of things. For some, it is a time to rush to get large essays and papers finished. For others it is a time to head to the library to read the newest paper. Whatever the reason, the 23 minutes are, for the most part used in full. Lunch immediately follows homeroom. Students at Midway have the option of the hot lunch, or the salad bar. Or basketball...

COLLEGE ENGLISH

Seventeen seniors headed to College English, taught by Mrs. Taylor, during 6th hour.

The class studies various and models different writing styles for the many required essays. They also study elements of short stories, and read classic literature such as Macbeth, Beowulf, and The Canterbury Tales. Methods of learning included class discussions, individual writings, and presentations as seen in the photo.

College credit is offered through Highland Community College.

Mindy Pauly, Nickie Carpenter, Heather Owens, and Amanda Bevis give a presentation about Shakespeare's writings.

GOVERNMENT

The American Government class is taught by Mr. Ninemire and takes place during the final hour of the day. This government class includes only seventeen seniors and is required to graduate.

The class discussed laws and regulations of both the state and federal governments as well as the elements that make up each.

On Wednesday, April 21 the class went to the Doniphan County courthouse where they divided up and met with someone in the public office of their choice to learn about their job responsibilities.

Nickie Carpenter and Heather Owens work on a Government study guide.

Homecoming 1998

A Week of Good TIMES

"I wish to congratulate the seniors. They were able to compile the most humorous (and humiliating) outfits I've ever seen for that Monday. That whole week was...well, interesting to say the least." Matt Pauly, freshman

"We have a very creative class and I came up with some good ideas. I really enjoyed dressing up the freshmen!" Eve Wayman, senior

"All of the hall decorations were fantastic. The freshmen Pepsi theme was neat. The sophomore Hollywood Cafe idea was very creative with their MHS memorabilia. The junior Great Hall of the Great Plains was a stroke of genius. The senior theme was a Eagle on the moon type thing and it was out of this world."

Sarah Burke, junior

"It felt good to win our senior Homecoming game, 56-6 against the Blue Valley Rams. It was even better when our king, Doug Roberts ended the game by scoring a touchdown." Curtis Albers, senior

"I was really nervous and cold when we all got lined up on the track. When Doug came towards me I was almost in shock. It's a good thing the guys ended the game after the third quarter or else I would have froze." Mindy Pauly, senior

Students enjoy doing the Chicken Dance at Homecoming.

The freshmen boys enjoy showing their feminine side when the seniors dressed them up for Spirit Week.

Senior Joe Hoffman poses as John Wayne on Famous Person Day during Spirit Week.

Snowball 1999

What made Snowball a Good TIME?

 "Just being with friends and going crazy for a couple of hours. We need more of that during the school year." Luke Helmstetter, junior

 "I was happy for Josh and Heather for being named King and Queen. The whole night was a lot of fun. Almost everyone got up and danced- it was great." Crystal Becker, senior

 "I thought that the ceremony was great. We had wonderful candidates. The dance on the other hand was a little boring." Monique Henderson, freshman

 "I was proud of my little brother Dylan for taking the crown up to the Snowball King. I also had a good time at the dance." Daniel Earl, junior

 "The night was a good night all the way around. We played well enough to win the game and the dance was a blast. Being crowned king was an honor that I felt very proud to receive." Josh Falk, senior

 "The atmosphere during the dance was exhilarating and neither I, nor anyone else could sit still. Then, way too soon, it was over." Steven Juhl, freshman

 "I had a good time at Snowball because it was one of the last dances I got to spend with the Senior class." Renee McNett, sophomore

PROM NIGHT FRIGHT

Play 1999

On Your Own TIME

Students become frightened when they find a sign while decorating for their prom.

Jarred Fuhrman wonders why Tyler Martin knocked him to the floor.

 "I really enjoyed entertaining the crowd and making people laugh with the rest of the cast."

- Crystal Becker, senior

 "The best part of the play was when Jarred came out on stage in his nerdy pants and glasses and the crowd started laughing."

- Amanda Bevis, senior

 "I really liked being able to dress nerdy and it was fun making the crowd laugh at my character."

- Jarred Fuhrman, senior

 "Beating up Jarred was my favorite part of the play. It's not every day that I get a chance like that."

- Tyler Martin, freshman

 "I enjoyed being able to shoot Matt Pauly. I also liked throwing Sarah Burke onto the couch."

- Tim Schmitt, senior

 "Right before the play when everyone was nervous and excited at the same time. You could feel the excitement in the air."

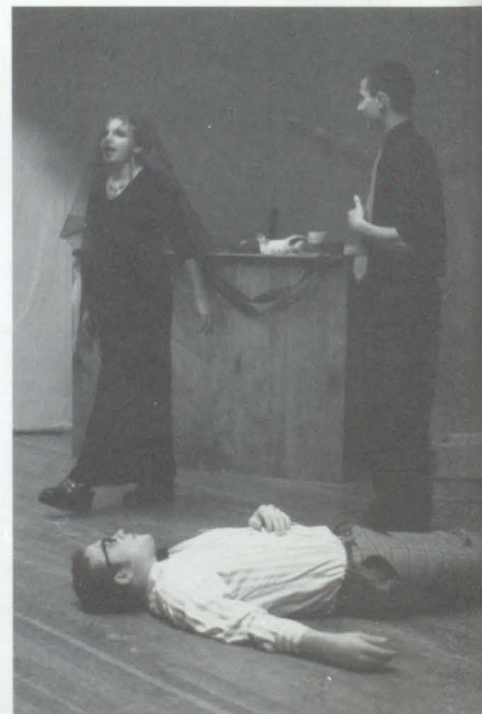

- Mindy Pauly, senior

 "My character was funny and it was a fun part to play."

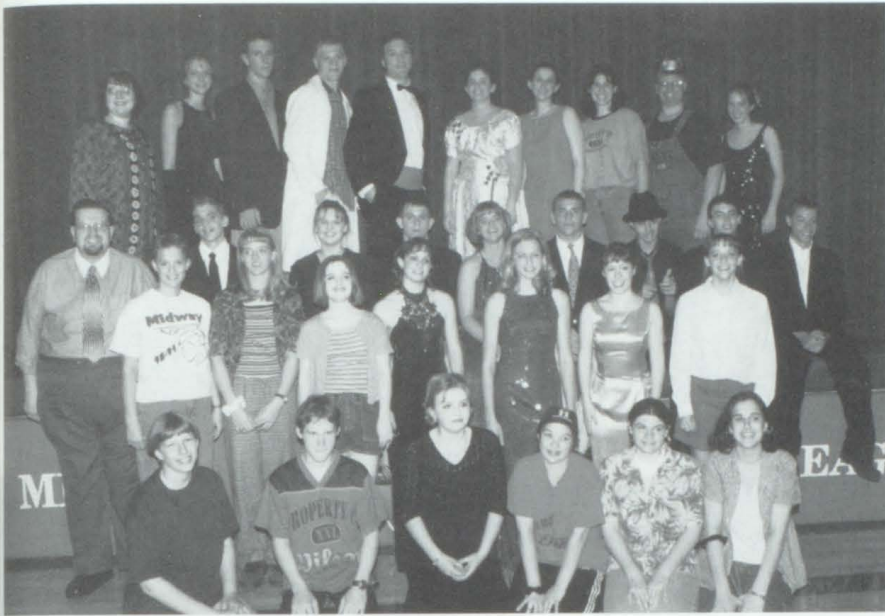

- Natalie Merten, freshman

Amanda Stevens helps Curtis Albers with his makeup.

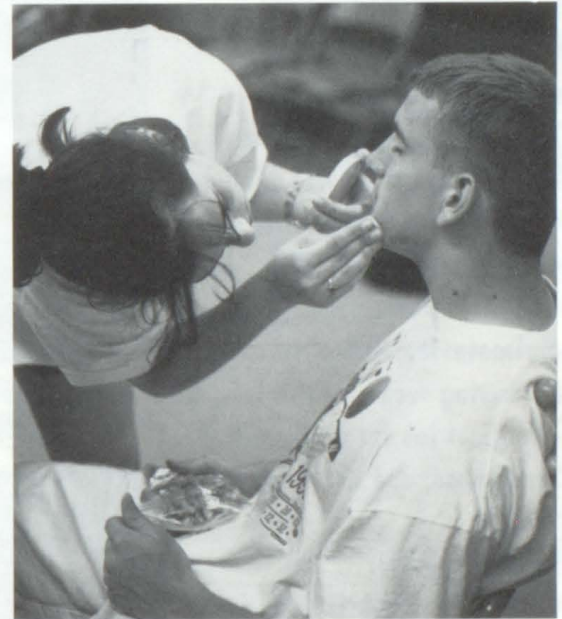

Natalie Merten and Matt Pauly discuss their future while Jarred Fuhrman lies knocked out of the floor.

Prom 1998

Believe...

I Believe...

 "I thought that the After Prom Party was really fun. Having an auction and receiving gifts was great!" Daniel Earl, junior

 "Prom was awesome! The decorations were great! Everybody had a great time and it really added to my senior year." Amanda Bevis, senior

 "Prom turned out better than I thought it would. It was a lot different than other dances like Homecoming or Snowball. The memories will be everlasting." Luke Helmstetter, junior

 "For having such a small class, we did a great job for getting it together in time, and it all came out really well." Amy Halling, junior

 "After decorating, it turned out really well, however, next year it'll be a lot more fun because we won't have to put as much effort into it." Melissa Helmstetter, junior

 Prom was really fun this year! The senior class really appreciated all of the hard work the juniors and their sponsors put into it. Everything from the decorations to the food was great. Thanks juniors! Crystal Becker, senior Seniors Amber Kuhnert, Amanda Bevis, Douglas Roberts, Tim Schmitt, freshman Natalie Merten, seniors Mindy Pauly and Heather Owens, and begin the meal with the salad.

After Prom Food, Prizes, Games

Jarred Fuhrman shows what he is made of in his sumo suit.

Big prizes, lots of food, and games galore brought the seniors and juniors to the After-Prom Party. After prom ended, everybody rushed home to change and make it to the YMCA by 1 a.m. To start the night off, games such as roulette, golf, rat race, coin toss, sumo wrestling, and many more games and activities, got students in the mood for prizes, which started at 3 a.m. Some of the prizes included T.V.'s, VCR's, radios, microwaves, and money. Seniors got to draw first, then the juniors got their chance. After the After-Prom, many students and dates went to Perkins in St. Joe where they enjoyed an early breakfast. After-Prom was put on by the After-Prom committee, which consists of the parents of the seniors and juniors.

Amber Stevens and Becky Martin see who is the best woman sumo wrestler.

Daniel Earl, Mindy Pauly and Heather Owens are happy their team placed in the scavenger hunt.

Travis Eichelberger, Brandon Lanning, Melissa Helmstetter, and Tricia Boos placed third in the scavenger hunt.

Senior Sneak 1999

TIME to
Play

 "Sneak really brought our class closer together. We all had a really great time although the weather wasn't the best. It was a blast!"

~Crystal Becker

 "I'm really glad that our class was able to take one last trip together. It left with me memories that I will have forever."

~Amber Kuhnert

Anne Simpson, Nickie Carpenter, Megan Bingham, and Tricia Boos are pretty laid back in their room.

SNEAK

As they leave the lodge, the group gathers at the Kalfran entrance.

~ Skippin' Out ~

After 13 long grueling years of school all of the 19 seniors from Midway felt that it was time for a vacation, so off they went. The class, along with its sponsors Mr. and Mrs. Leatherman and Mr. and Mrs. Martin, loaded up a bus and went to the Ozarks.

Upon arriving, the group decided to pose for an old-time photo. They chose the popular Wild West scene of cowboys and saloon girls.

The group stayed at Kalfran lodge at Osage Beach where they swam, boated, rode jet skis, played tennis, and danced. Those who considered themselves daring took their turn riding the Sling Shot.

Another big attraction to the group was the outlet mall. Many of the seniors spent hours at the mall as well as a sufficient amount of money.

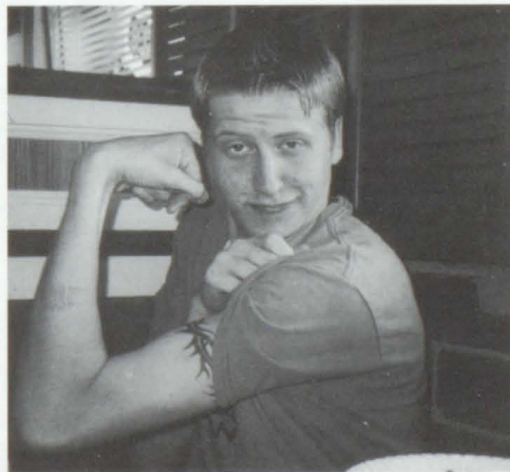

After three days of not-so-great weather the group loaded up the bus once again and returned home.

Kylee Schuetz, Mindy Pauly, Amber Kuhnert, Amanda Bevis, Heather Owens, and Crystal Becker sit down for one of the very few quiet moments in their room.

Jarred Fuhrman, Curtis Albers, Josh Falk, and Justin Dunning are able to maintain their cool just about anywhere.

Justin Dunning shows off his fake tatoo which became popular during the trip.

Crystal Becker and Douglas Roberts show their excitement as they ride one of the most popular attractions for the second time, the Sling Shot.

Graduation 1999

TIME To Move On

At 2 p.m. on May 16, 1999 nineteen nervous Midway High School seniors lined up to begin the long anticipated departure of their years at Midway. For the last time, the class of 1999 looked upon each other as classmates, knowing that their lives would change forever within the next hour. Intense emotions filled the gym as the class proceeded through the door to meet fate and their future. Within a short period of time, the class of 1999 forever changed, becoming alumni, but remaining friends forever.

 "Graduation was a very emotional time for us.

We were excited, yet sad to part with each other. We have had a lot of fun over the years." Heather Owens, senior

"I was pretty nervous going in, but once I got up on the stage, everything just blurred by and all of a sudden, we were graduates. It was a very nice ceremony with a great turnout, especially for only nineteen students." Tim Schmitt, senior

 "Everything happened so fast. I had waited my entire life for that day, but it didn't seem long enough." Amber Kuhnert, senior Josh Falk gives his valedictory address during the graduation ceremony.

Mindy Pauly shares an emotional hug with her father during the presentation of roses.

"It was great to come to see the accomplishments other students have achieved and the goals they have set for themselves."

- Amber Kuhnert, senior

"It was nice to see everyone dressed up and being recognized for their achievements."

- Jennifer Walsh, junior

"It was neat to see everyone dressed up."

- Stephanie Jones, freshman

"I'm glad we are able to recognize each other's accomplishments for the year. It's neat to see the awards everyone gets."

- Amy Halling, junior

"It allows students who worked hard the whole year a chance to receive recognition for their accomplishments."

- Crystal Becker, senior

"I think it is good that it allows for most every student to be recognized for their achievements." - Mrs. Taylor

To our youngest daughter, Kylee, You're all grown up and soon will be out on your own. We wish you all the best and happiness always. Keep on smiling!
Love,
Mom & Dad

Time is a major factor in everyone's life, including ours. We need time for homework, sports, family, friends, work, and anything else that happens to come along. Some people may say that time is running out, but to others, time is just beginning. It's time to say goodbye to another school year and before long we'll be saying hello to another. As our last year of the 20th century winds down, we realize we are living LIFE ON THE EDGE OF TIME.

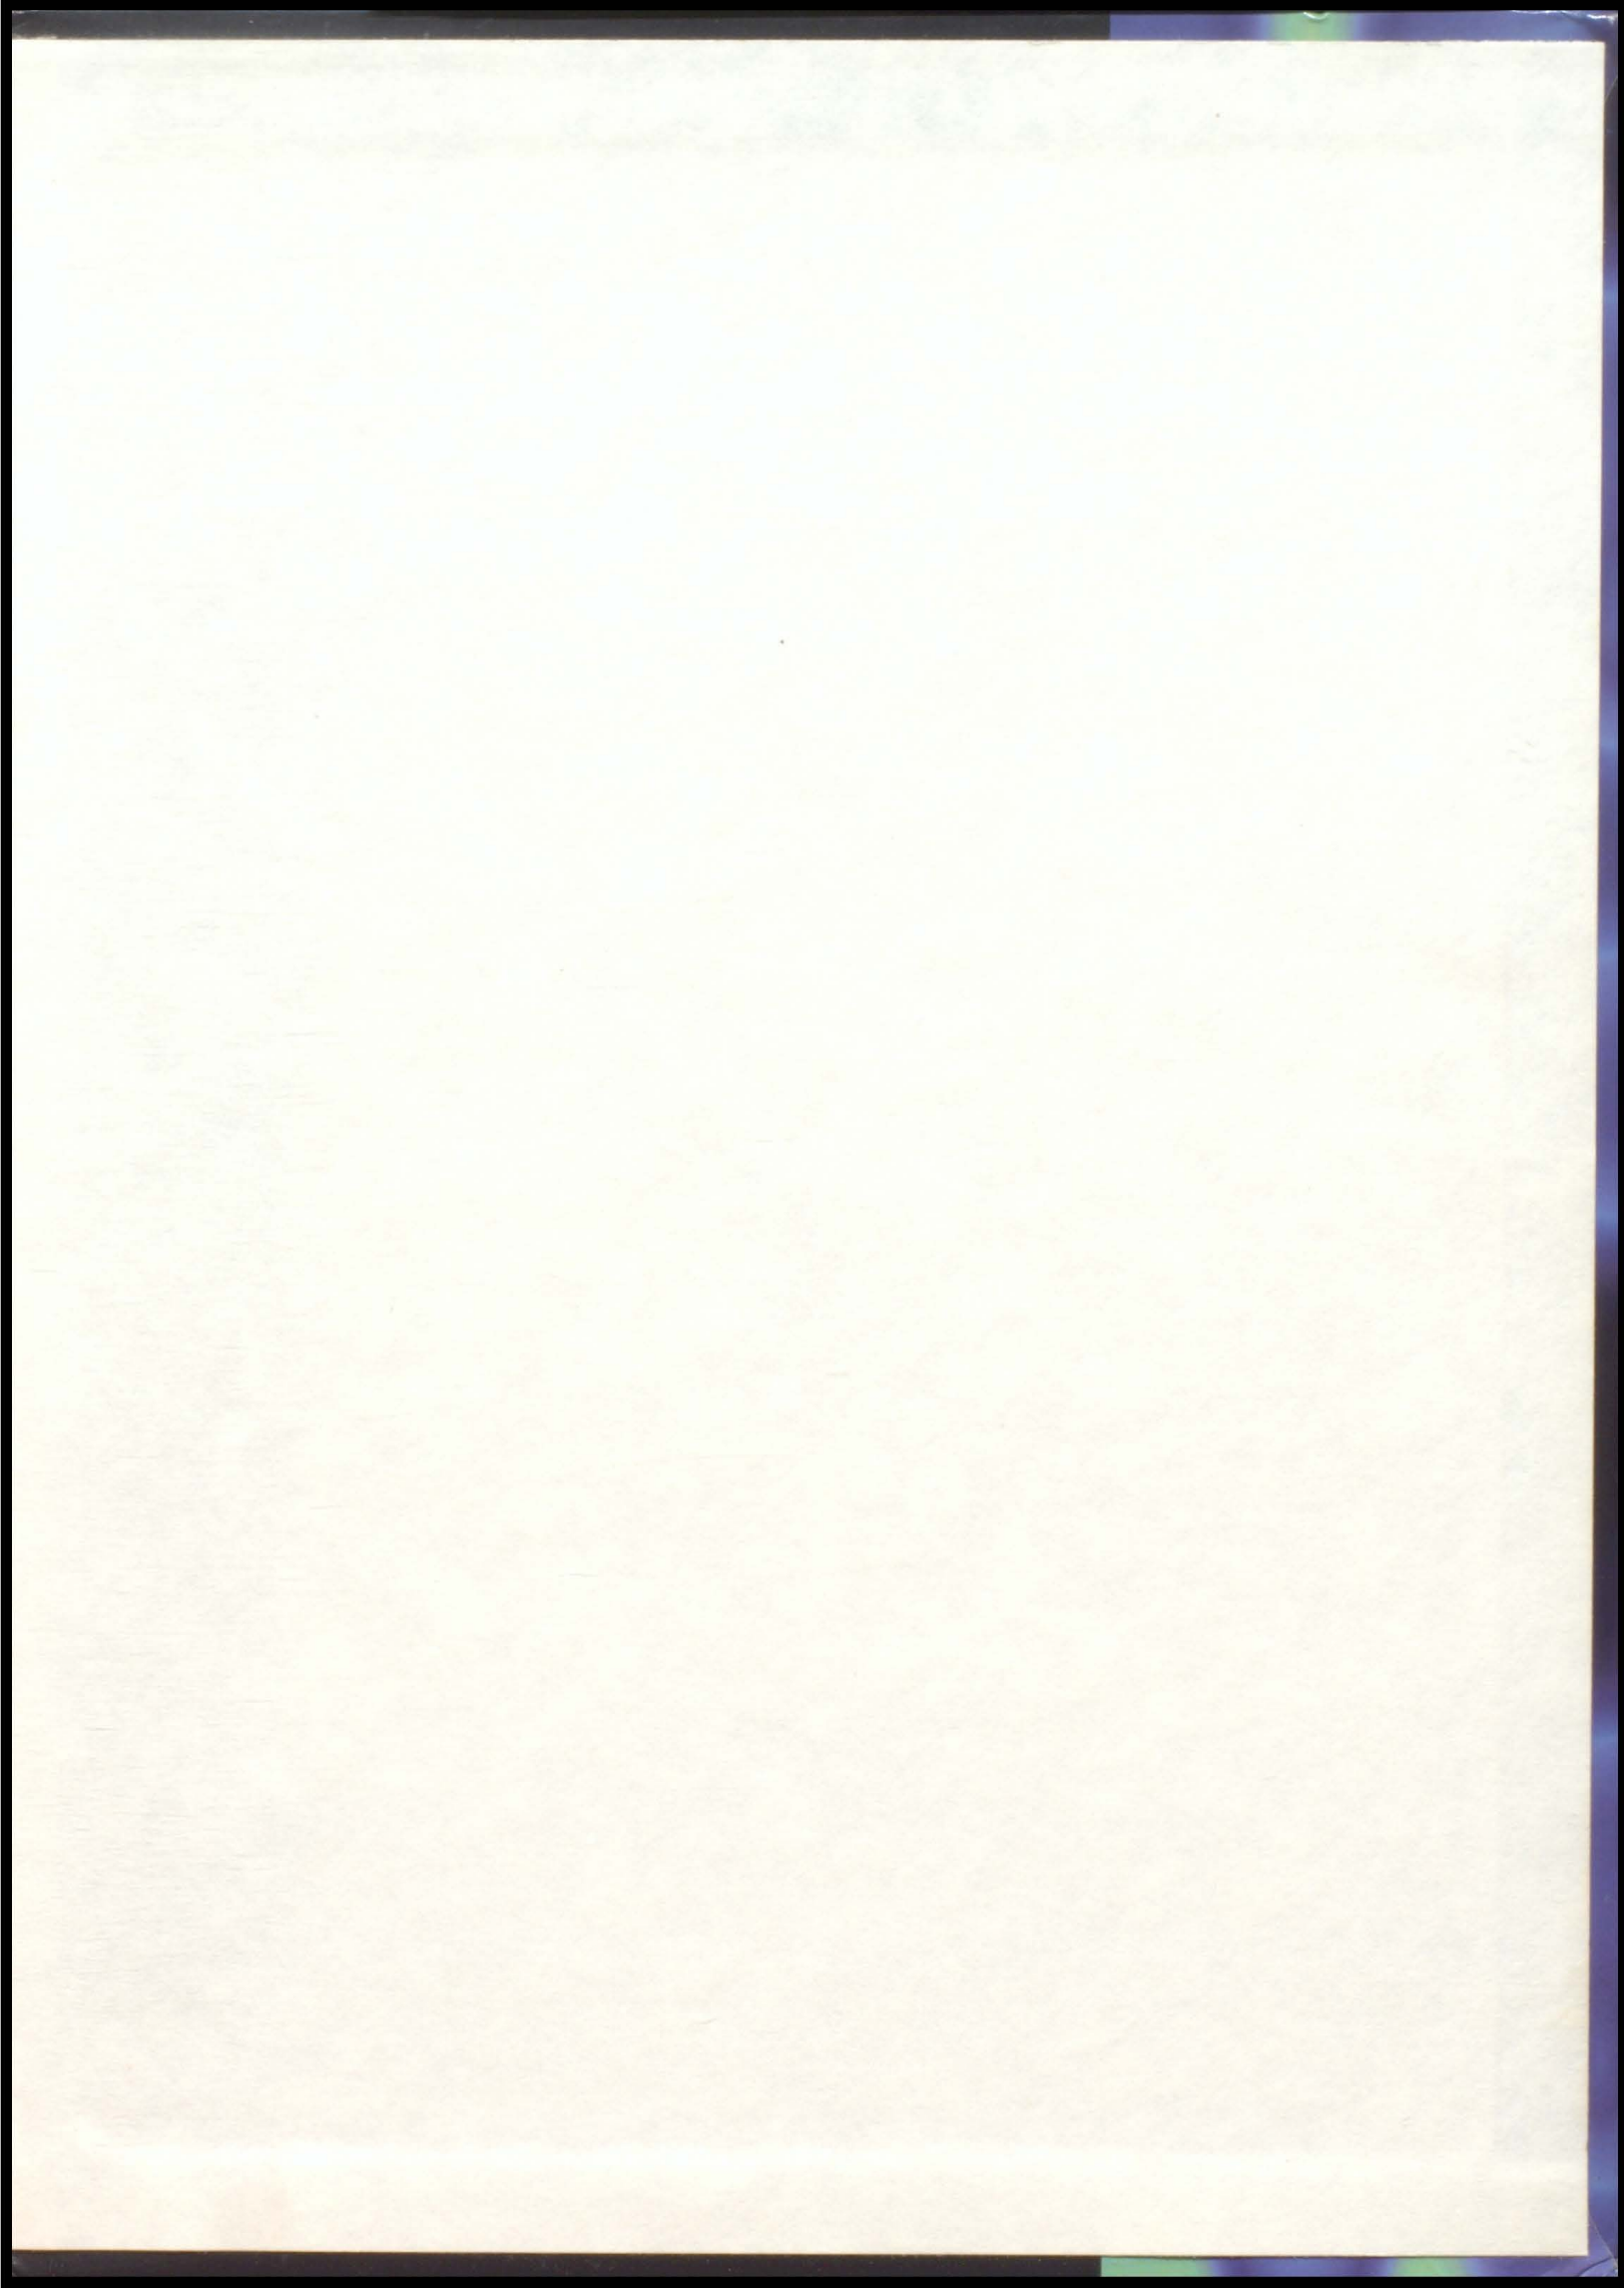

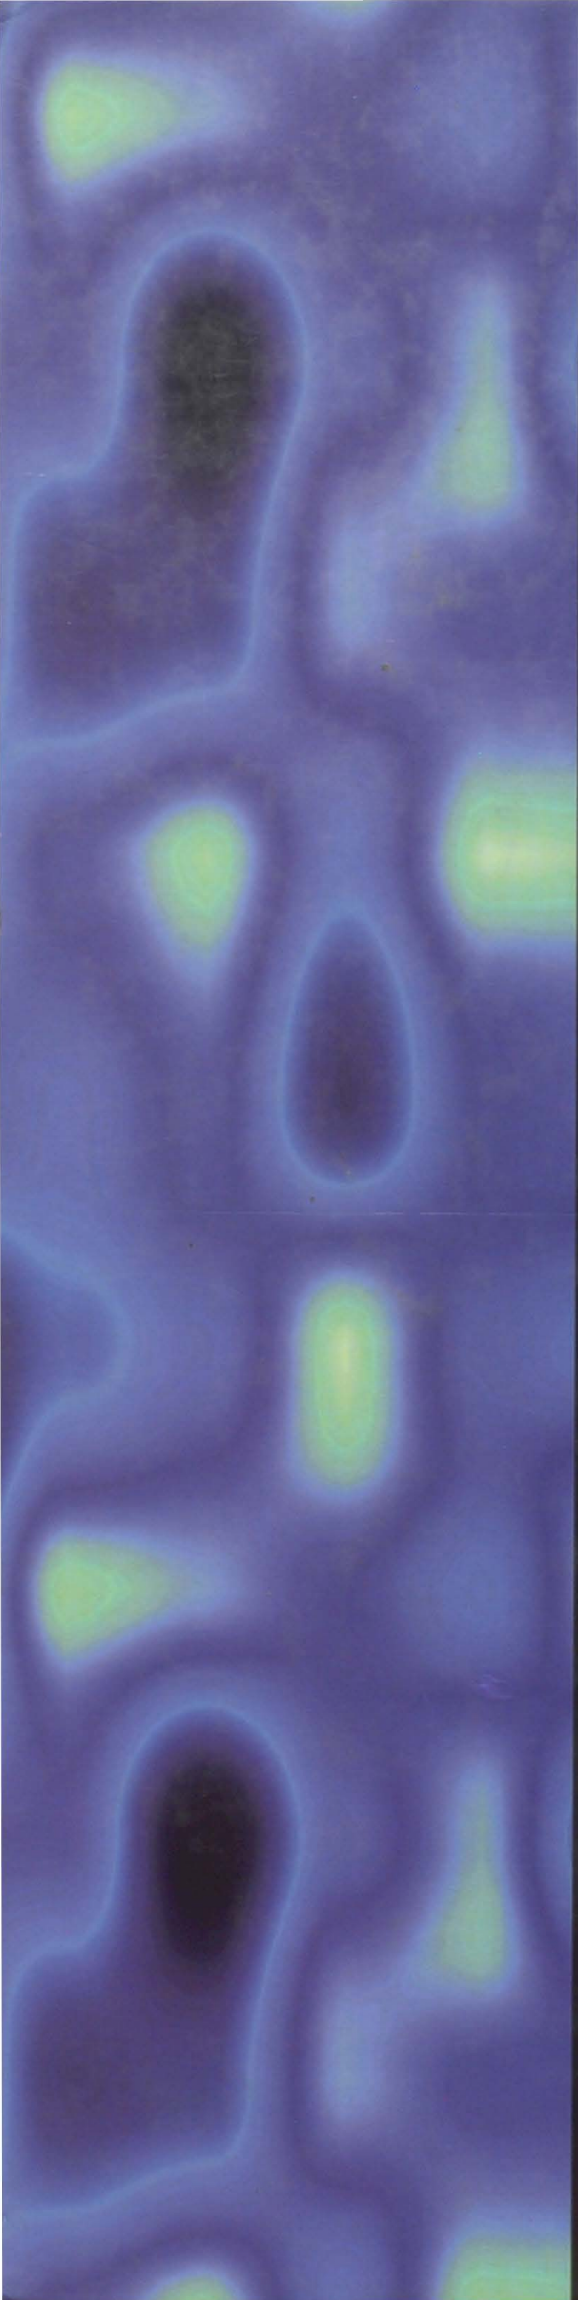

The last class to graduate in this millenium waves their final goodbye to Midway High School.

The 1998-1999 Publications class presents volume 40 of The Eagle. Jostens Publishing Company, Topeka, Kansas printed the 72-page yearbook with a total number of 60 copies ordered. The 7 3/4 x 10 1/2" volume was printed on Gloss paper. Two pages were printed in four color. The cover was predesigned by Jostens and modified by the class to fit the theme. The body copy and captions are printed using DomCasual and the headlines are printed using DomCasual or Arial. We want to give special recognition and thanks to Paul Roberts for again contributing many excellent pictures, most noticeably for the sports pages. Lifetouch photography also took the group pictures.
